

A Comparison of Boson Sampling and Quantum Circuits in Interferometry

Hayden Dyke
Imperial College London
London, United Kingdom
hayden.dyke23@imperial.ac.uk

Ismail Mehmood
Imperial College London
London, United Kingdom
ismail.mehmood24@imperial.ac.uk

Abstract—Interferometers are devices which use light, or more generally superimposing waves, using interference to extract information. We propose a method by which quantum information, as well as non-linear interferometers can be modelled and simulated with quantum circuits.

I. INTRODUCTION